Denver-Based Business Donates Budgeted Holiday Party Funds to Charity
Company's Contribution Celebrates the Spirit of the Season

Because of current economic conditions, the Denver community has less to give this holiday season, while the need of its citizens grows due to job loss and foreclosures. Locally based companies are seeking creative ways to address this need with limited budgets: VIXXI Solutions, headquartered in Greenwood Village, CO, has decided to forgo this year's holiday party and use the allocated funds to make a charitable donation to the Arc of Colorado.

The Arc Thrift Stores ("ARC"), founded in 1968, has helped to make a difference in the lives of individuals with developmental disabilities and other at risk populations for nearly four decades. During that time, ARC has stepped forward to become one of the leading funders and supporters of individuals with developmental disabilities in the state, as well as a key supporter of a number of other at-risk populations such as the unemployed, homeless, minorities, women in transition, refugees, veterans, and many others needing critical job training and employment.

ARC Chief Executive Officer, Lloyd Lewis, is grateful for the contribution. "This very generous donation will support our Working for a Purpose! program, which provides employment opportunities for individuals with developmental disabilities. As one of the larger employers of people with disabilities in the state we are proud to provide vocational opportunities as well as work experience training for people with developmental disabilities. We believe that each person has a valued place in our community".

"We've decided that this money is better served to the people of Denver who are in need," says Christopher Camut, President and CEO of VIXXI Solutions. "We are blessed to have a thriving company that provides for us and our families. In gratitude, we give to those less fortunate and know that the money will be well-used by ARC."

About The Arc of Colorado

The Arc of Colorado advocates with others to create the conditions under which all people with developmental disabilities experience opportunities to develop competency and to make choices, to have good relationships with family members and friends, to have respect and dignity, and to be full participants in all community living.
